In regard to the accident to Capt. J. Warren at Manistee, last week, we have learned the following particular: as he was coming down Manistee river with his coaster, without canvas and steering with the current he fell overboard. His loud call for help was heard by the engineer on a tug, who secured a small boat and reached the captain just as he was about to go down for the third time. When brought ashore medical aid was called in, and it was only after hard labor that they succeeded in fully resuscitating him.

Col. W. Ludlow, U. S. engineer, has been relieved by orders from Washington as engineer in charge of the harbors in the Michigan district. With him also goes Com. O. F. Heyerman, in charge of the lighthouses. The Detroit Free Press, in commenting upon their sudden removal, says: These officers have been relieved because they deemed it their duty to remonstrate against carrying out to the letter the orders of the Lighthouse Board with regard to placing lights on the Sault River. They knew that if the lights were placed precisely as ordered the result would be to add to the perils of navigation, instead of diminishing them, and having themselves an exact knowledge of the situation they felt it their duty to lay this before their superiors before proceeding further. It would seem that the representations of two officers of such proven capacity as Col. Ludlow and Commander Heyerman should be sufficient to convince the Lighthouse Board that an error had been committed and to insure a revision or amendment of the plans for lighting the river. But for not going ahead in bullhead disregard of the situation, the officers are discredited by being relieved. The wrong done Col. Ludlow and Commander Heyerman should be speedily righted, and those officers returned to the posts from which they were causelessly relieved."

The following co-incidence was noticed in Chicago river during the afternoon President Harrison was re-nominated at Minneapolis, and was being universally commented upon by vesselmen. At the very hour the ballot was taken the schooner Benjamin Harrison was passing through Harrison street bridge, the tug Protection towing her and the Union astern, with the barge Sunshine following in tow of the Satisfaction; while Capt. Dunham's schooner James G. Blaine was somewhere on Lake Superior, but had not been heard from for several days.

Another of our manufacturing plants will undergo an enlargement this summer, the inevitable result whereof will be just that much more labor to a score or more of hands. At present Messrs. J. & A. Van Putten of the Holland tub factory have cut their barrel staves and patent hoops at New Richmond, in connection with their saw-mill at that place. They intend to remove that portion of their plant to this city and operate it with the tub factory here. This will involve an addition of from 60 to 100 feet to their present mill, a larger engine and more boilers. The change will be made some time during July or August. When the whole is completed the Holland tub factory will have about 100 men in its employ.

During the next few months a great many bottles will be cast upon the shores of Lake Michigan. They are to be thrown in the water for experimental purposes by lake captains, who will undertake the service at the request of the government. The experiments are to be conducted for the purpose of determining the set and drift of lake currents, and will be under the direction of the weather bureau. The bottles are to be given out to vessel captains, who will agree to throw them overboard and enter certain data on blanks furnished for that purpose. When the captain throws one of the bottles in the water he will place in it before so doing a slip of paper, upon which the data and the position of the vessel is entered. On each slip is the request that the finder send it to the chief of the weather bureau at Washington, or hand it to the nearest lighthouse keeper or postmaster, to be forwarded.

At two o'clock this (Friday) morning Edward Hall, a yard switchman on the C. & W. M., at this station, while engaged in coupling cars, in some way or other hard for him to explain, had his foot caught and crushed under the wheels of the passing car, rendering the amputation of the limb necessary. The operation was performed at 7 o'clock, by Dr. O. E. Yates, the company's surgeon, assisted by Drs. Kremers and Mabbs. The limb was cut off about half way below the knee. Mr. Hall is a young man of 22 years, and came here in December last, from Nebraska, where his mother still resides. The unfortunate man is being cared for in the City Hotel, and is doing as well as can be expected.

Our Public Schools.

The patriot of 1861 especially delights in spelling "nation" with a large N. And so should we all in speaking of the Public Schools,—emphasize every letter, as it were.

Each annual commencement of the most common "common school" is equal to a national holiday.

Without the common school no commonwealth.

Would that the recent advocates of the parochial school system in our midst could be made to feel this!

The Thirteenth Annual Commencement of the High School of the city of Holland was held Thursday evening in Lyceum Opera House. The members of the Senior Class, who graduate this year with full honors, were all present, with the exception of John Van der Vries, who was absent by reason of sudden illness.

It was our misfortune personally to be among the hundreds that were turned away by reason of the inadequacy of the hall. By all means, let it be made a point after this, in this community, to give the masses an opportunity of attending the annual commencement of the Common Schools.

The decorations in the hall were lavish and tasty, and very creditable to the Junior class, to whom this task had been assigned.

"In the race and not the prize, Glory's true destination lies."

This was the class motto, and was brought out prominent in the background of the platform.

The program of the evening was as follows:

Overture—Ritely. Goodrich's Orchestra. Prayer—Rev. Charles S. Dutton. Duet—"The Angel." Rubenstein. Mrs. Prof. Gillespie, Miss B. Gertrude Alcott. Oration—Salutatory—"Not Finished But Begun." John Van der Vries. (Read by Principal H. S. Myers.) Essay—"The Ladder of Success." Anna M. Toron. Music—Selection. Orchestra. Oration—"Our National Defenses." John Ten Houten. Essay—"Give the Girls a Chance." Ila M. Jacobus. Solo—"Fear Not Ye, O Israel." Buck. Prof. J. B. Nykerk. Essay—Valedictory—"What are the Wild Waves Saying?" Martha Van Landegend. Music—Selection. Orchestra. Presentation of Diplomas, by Superintendent S. E. Higgins. Benediction.

Goodrich's orchestra of this city furnished the music of the occasion, and it was fine.

Martha Van Landegend received the prize of the Central Commercial College, Downer's Grove, Ill., awarded for the highest general standing in the class; and John Van der Vries the prize awarded by Adrian College for the highest standing in mathematics. The past year has been a successful one to the schools of the city.

For the HOLLAND CITY NEWS.

Retaliation or—What?

Mr. Editor: Under the above heading I notice a communication in last week's issue of the News from "A Citizen," in regard to certain actions of our Common Council; and for the same reason given by him, I also shall thank you in advance for the courtesy of publishing the following:

Our "Citizen" charges our present council that—to many citizens the conclusion is irresistible that the animus which prompted this legislation (in regard to the electric light question and building material on the streets) is begotten of either vindictiveness or cupidity.

This may be so, or it may not be so, I am unable to judge. But this fact cannot be gainsaid that recent actions in regard to the electric light question have not only met the approval of many citizens, but that it is the result of the voice of a large majority of our voters at the late election. And whether our "Citizen" is opposed to, or in favor of the city doing its own lighting; or whether injunctions are served or not, this is a government by the people, and the people will rule and must rule. They may be temporarily enjoined, but no man or body of men can suppress public opinion. The council has only obeyed the wishes of the people.

In regard to building material on our streets, this action has also been hailed with delight by our business men and others who use those streets for what they are intended. A recent petition of some of our business men to the council will bear out this fact. Our "prominent builder and contractor" generally takes the middle of the street, with a fine horse and buggy, and that in broad day light; whereas the ordinary foot passenger, with our defective street lamps, is compelled to walk behind rods of piled up shingles, laths and what not. Because former legislative bodies have failed to do their duty, is it any reason why the present body should not do its duty? I cannot say in what spirit our present council has acted in the foregoing, but they certainly deserve much credit for this and other great public conveniences.

As to raising the city saloon license, they have only taken a step in the right direction, and if I had my say the tax should be placed somewhere above $50,000 per annum. Not that I am a temperance man or a prohibitionist, but because one cannot fail to daily see the evils of the "saloon system," to say nothing of the corruptness of the saloon in politics. Whatever was the motive resulting in such actions, we, the public, have nothing to do with. But every law and order loving citizen will sustain such actions as long as they are in accordance with the laws of the land and the ordinances of the city.

Further he says: "Certain members of this body openly exchanged concurrent opinions, that if saloon keepers were so prosperous as to be enabled to invest their surplus money in electric light companies they certainly could afford to pay a higher license." If this is true, which is possible, then I claim that in all bodies, legislative and otherwise, remarks are occasionally made jokingly, which would find no utterance were each individual to speak only according to his opinions and convictions. The above quotation is more of the joking kind than any other. Were saloon keepers always judged according to their words, say nothing of their actions, I wonder where they would find themselves. I for one have explicit confidence in our present council, and the past record of its individual members in pre-official days enables me to regard their names above reproach.

Holland, Mich., June 20, 1892.

Thirty-two Years Ago.

MICHIGAN'S PART IN THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION OF 1860.

"I was a delegate at large from Michigan to the Republican national convention which met at Chicago thirty-two years ago and nominated Abraham Lincoln for the Presidency of the United States," said ex-Senator Thomas W. Ferry, to The Free Press correspondent at Washington, the other day. "The Michigan delegation in that convention was unanimous for William H. Seward and I was one of the most enthusiastic delegates in the body. It was a great convention, full of men then and since famous in the history of the country.

"The Michigan delegation came home from that convention in far from a happy frame of mind. The state had been wildly enthusiastic for Seward, and there was great depression for a time after the nomination of Lincoln. There was a bitter feeling in Michigan against the New York Tribune, because the conviction was general that but for Greeley's opposition to Senator Seward he would certainly have been nominated. I was very angry at the Tribune myself and it makes me smile now to recall that I promptly stopped the Tribune after my return to Grand Haven.

"Seward was unquestionably the foremost Republican in the country in 1860. It seemed that he was the ideal representative of the principles of the new party that was so hopeful of winning its first victory. But Lincoln proved to be a good, wise and wonderfully successful President. It cannot be doubted that he administered the office more ably than Seward would have done, and the nomination which was so displeasing to the Michigan delegation, proved to be immensely popular in the country."

Ex-Gov. Austin Blair is the only other known survivor of the Michigan delegation in the convention of 1860, and served on the committee on resolutions.

Seward was presented to the convention by William M. Everts, who retired from the United States Senate but a few months ago. Seward was supported on behalf of the Michigan delegation by Austin Blair. Michigan voted in the convention every ballot for Seward and did not join the stampede to Lincoln which closed the convention. After the result, however, Austin Blair made an enthusiastic speech in which he pledged Michigan to Lincoln. He said:

"Michigan, from first to last has cast her vote for the great statesman of New York. She has nothing to take back. She has not sent me forward to worship the rising sun, but she has put me forward to say that, at your behest here to-day, she lays down her first, best-loved candidate to take up yours, with some beating of the heart, with some quivering in the veins, but she does not fear that the fame of Seward will suffer, for she knows that his fame is a portion of the history of the American Union. It will be written and read, and beloved long after the temporary excitement of this day has passed away, and when presidents themselves are forgotten in the oblivion which comes over all temporal things. We stand by him still. We have followed him with an eye single and with unwavering faith in things past. We marshal now behind him in the grand column which shall go out to do battle for Lincoln."

By a curious political conspiracy Michigan participated rather disproportionately in this convention of 1860. The Texas delegation in the convention was composed entirely of Michigan men, and it is not known that any one of the accredited delegates from the Lone Star State ever saw that commonwealth. The delegation which sat for Texas was, it was claimed, chosen at a state convention held at Austin, on the 12th of April. It has, however, been often asserted that the convention was really held at Grand Haven. Don C. Henderson, the well-known editor of the Allegan Journal, had been a protégé of Horace Greeley. He came to Michigan a few years prior to 1860, but was a pronounced Seward man. He did not join his old associate in the bitter opposition to the Senator which afterward defeated his nomination. He was the first delegate-at-large from Texas and has been credited with originating the interesting little plot by which Texas gained an alien representation and Seward secured six extra votes in the convention.

Tax Sales Declared Illegal.

Judge Woodson, of the Circuit Court of Buchanan County, Missouri, rendered a decision which declares all tax sales of real estate made in St. Joseph during the year of 1888 by the City Treasurer illegal for the reason that the sales were not properly advertised in the official papers, in that the advertisements failed to specify the State, county, or city, or the location of the property. About $500,000 worth of property is involved.

INCENDIARY FIRES IN CLEVELAND.

Insurance Agents Becoming Alarmed and Refusing to Take Risks.

Insurance agents all over the city of Cleveland are in a state of intense excitement over the recent mysterious fires which have occurred in the town-portion. Monday morning several of the most prominent of the agents declared that they would positively refuse to renew all risks in the lumber district. Large fires are following each other so rapidly that the companies are instructing their representatives to be extremely careful in issuing policies and to refuse them if they think the risk too great. It is generally believed that a systematic effort is being made to burn the city. Over a dozen fires occurred in one week in the most dangerous places.

LAWLESSNESS IN MISSOURI.

Remarkable Duel with Butcher Knives—A Reign of Terror.

Another violent outbreak is reported from Taney County, Missouri. Dispatches from Torrey say that John Nettleton and Richard Meyer, young men, fought a duel with knives near the town of Proteon, in the northern part of the county. The duel was the result of the murder of Sheriff Williams several months ago, young Meyer saying publicly that all connected with the mob on that occasion ought to be lynched. Nettleton's people were connected with the affair, and Meyer was promptly challenged. The young men fought with butcher knives, both dying in half an hour from loss of blood. Each had at least thirty cuts.

His skiff was caught by the rapids on the falls and he narrowly escaped drowning. He is now locked up charged with stealing the skiff.

Mission Work for Japan.

Nine ministers and five teachers were received into the German Lutheran Synod at Winona, Minn. The greater part of the time was taken up by a discussion of the establishment of a mission in Japan. Three students especially educated for this work have about finished their studies. The result of the discussion was the adoption of the resolution to send one member of the mission committee to the meeting of the general representative body of the church. The delegates to the Synod of Michigan returned and reported the unanimous and hearty approval of that synod to the proposed union.

FORTY-THREE ARE DEAD.

A Bridge Collapses, Carrying Workmen Down with It.

Cincinnati special: One of the most fearful accidents in the history of this vicinity was that of the fall Wednesday of the bridge which was in course of construction over the Licking River between Covington and Newport, Ky. Forty-five workmen were on the structure. So far as is now known only two escaped unhurt. The others were either killed by the crushing of the iron and timbers or were drowned. The cause is surmised to be the weakening of the wooden false work. The high water has washed out the earth about the supports, and it is said one of the contractors said a day or two ago that he was afraid the structure would not stand under the weight of the heavy material. But still they kept at work. Wednesday a force of forty-three men, under the direction of Robert and William Baird, the contractors, was engaged in putting in place the heavy iron work on the main span. Suddenly, without warning, there was a cracking sound of breaking timbers, a swaying of the structure, and a headlong plunge of the whole mass of timbers, iron, and helpless workmen into the muddy waters of the Licking River, fifty feet below. A very few forms were to be seen struggling on the surface, but most of the men were plucked beneath the wreck at the bottom of the river.

THREATEN TO CUT THE LEVEE.

Jefferson Authorities Protest Against the Steps Taken to Protect Orleans.

The fight which was threatened by the parish authorities of Jefferson, La., against the Parish of Orleans came to a head, and it threatens to be a lively one. City Surveyor Brown, in order to more fully protect the city, has put a force of men at work raising the levee between the two parishes. This levee is on the dividing line. A year ago, when the same work was attempted, Jefferson Parish got out an injunction against the authorities of Orleans preventing them from raising the levee. This injunction was made perpetual, not notwithstanding the fact the surveyor began the work and an order for his arrest has been issued by the Jefferson Parish authorities. Just now he cannot be found and the work goes merrily on. Crevasse water is rapidly covering Jefferson Parish, and the people threaten, if the work of repairing the protection levee is not discontinued, to cut the old levee and let New Orleans get a taste of what a crevasse is.

EMMONS BLAINE DEAD.

The Second Son of James G. Blaine Expires Suddenly at Chicago.

Emmons Blaine, second son of James G. Blaine, died suddenly at Chicago, Saturday noon, of blood-poisoning, following trouble of the bowels. He had been critically ill but a few hours, and death was unexpected. It is believed that the original trouble resulted from his exertions at the Minneapolis convention. After repeated efforts to reach his father by telegraph, word was finally received that Mr. and Mrs. James G. Blaine had left for Harbor for Chicago. The telegram announcing their son's death was the first intimation to the parents of the sad event.

ANTI-OPTION BILL DOOMED.

President Hamill Satisfies Himself that the Measure Cannot Pass the Senate.

President Hamill, of the Chicago Board of Trade, was in Washington for awhile Tuesday afternoon and evening to look over the anti-option situation. While there he conferred with several persons supposed to be well posted on the situation, and he left for home with the belief that the bill will not pass the Senate. His belief is based on a canvass made by a clever agent, who told the correspondent that he had seen all of the Senators but three, and that he felt sure that the bill would be defeated by a comfortable majority.

Crashed Into a Patrol Wagon.

At Columbus, Ohio, while a patrol wagon was running to the Panhandle Railway shops to convey to a hospital Herman Hockstead, an employe whose skull had been crushed in an accident, it was struck by a shunted car at the Twentieth street crossing of the Baltimore and Ohio Railway and was completely demolished. Officer Eugene O'Connor was badly injured and may die. Sergeant James Doyle was badly cut about the head, and Driver Jacob Miller's left hand was crushed. Hockstead will die.

Freight Handlers May Strike.

The freight handlers of every road centering at Indianapolis, except the Pennsylvania, have joined in a demand for an increase of wages. The men say their work is not only extremely hard and dangerous, but they have to put up with many petty annoyances, and that $1.25 a day is not living wages. Frequently they must work over time, and for this they do not receive what they deem proper compensation. They request $1.50 a day and time and a half for overtime.

Dr. Depew Will Accept.

He is expected here soon to confer with the President, and it is thought the position will be offered to him then. It is further stated that if he is asked to accept he will do so until next March 4 only. RUSSIA AND THE SEALS.

The British Columbian Poaching Vessels Likely to Infest the Copper Islands.

The news from the north is that the Victoria sealing vessels have decided to transfer their operations this year from the American to the Russian side of Behring Sea. They are now engaged in attacking the herd in its annual migration northward to that sea, a great part of the season's catch being derived from this prolonged harrying of the animals during the spring in the North Pacific. But toward the end of June or the beginning of July the seals make their way into Behring Sea, and the poachers must follow as in former years or else close their season's work. Last year such of them as could evade the cruisers that lay in wait for them around Sand Point entered Behring Sea and hunted industriously till formally warned out. Some of them succeeded in dodging the Government vessels until the season was nearly over; others procured several hundred skins and were entitled to all they could get until duly notified of the modus vivendi. This year, however, they are to be seized and punished under the law, whether they have received previous notification or not, although efforts will be made to warn them.

GRAVEYARD GHOULS IN IOWA.

Dozens of Graves in a Hamburg Cemetery Found to Have Been Robbed.

Hamburg, Iowa, dispatch: Forest Hill Cemetery, one mile south of town, is alive with a swarming mass of people, excited almost beyond bounds by the discoveries that are being hourly made there. An examination of a newly made grave disclosed the fact that it had been robbed. The examination was quietly proceeded with until more than a dozen graves were opened. In each instance it was found that the body had been stolen. The news of the discovery spread rapidly, and fully 1,000 people were waiting at the cemetery to note the progress of the investigation. Within the past eighteen months nearly 100 people have been buried there, and it is believed that every one of these graves has been desecrated by the ghouls. The evidence points to the existence of a well-organized and bold body of graveyard ghouls. There is no large medical institution near here, hence the only demand must come from a tanning establishment. No mercy will be shown if any member of the gang is caught.

SHOT DOWN IN THE STREET.

City Marshal Dorn, of Kentland, Ind., Killed While Doing His Duty.

City Marshal Dorn, of Kentland, Ind., was shot down in the street by Jackson Plummer. Plummer was arrested. The City Council recently passed an ordinance providing that all shade trees along the streets be trimmed. Plummer refused to comply, armed himself, and began to look for Councilmen. He first met J. D. Conklin, a member of the board, who escaped. Conklin notified Marshal Dorn of Plummer's threats. Dorn in attempting to disarm Plummer was shot through the heart and expired immediately. Dorn had served as Marshal for ten consecutive terms. He leaves a widow and eight children.

SWEEP BY A TEMPEST.

Many Persons Killed in Quebec, New Brunswick, and Nova Scotia.

The most terrible hailstorm ever known in Eastern Canada has spread death and destruction throughout Quebec, New Brunswick, and Nova Scotia. The worst storm was that which struck St. Rose, about forty miles from Montreal. The most shocking phase of the disaster is the destruction of the school house, in which twenty-five children were being taught at the moment the cyclone struck it. A mass of kindling wood is all that is left of the building. Eleven were killed.

Terrible Work of Lightning.

Of fifty people injured when lightning struck the store of W. H. Ryan, at Parkville, Ky., twenty-four are in a serious condition, and three of them, W. H. Ryan, Thomas Powell and Mr. Young, cannot recover. Many of the injured will have to have limbs amputated, as they are so mangled that it will be impossible to save them. The large crowd present had collected at the postoffice in the store to receive the evening mail, when the lightning struck two kegs of powder in the store. It exploded, throwing a heavy iron safe through the roof. Not one of the persons in the store escaped serious injury.

Jealous Woman's Crime.

Cardonia, a little Indiana town, was shaken from center to circumference Sunday night by the explosion of a large dynamite cartridge and three persons nearly lost their lives. Mrs. Jane Burch did the work through jealousy. She claimed her husband had been visiting the house of the Michot family too frequently, and she took a dynamite cartridge and placed it under the house she supposed her husband to be in. By mistake she put the cartridge under A. Handcock's residence. Mr. Handcock's wife and two children were badly shaken up but not seriously injured. The building is a total wreck.

Dr. Scudder Is Dead.

Dr. Henry Martyn Scudder died at the county jail, Chicago, Tuesday morning, from morphine poisoning, and it is supposed that he took the drug with suicidal intent. He had for several days been obtaining morphine upon the pretense of alleviating nervousness, but he saved the drug to kill himself. Dr. Scudder was arrested at his residence, 3921 Grand boulevard, on the morning of March 2, upon a warrant sworn out by his father-in-law, E. H. Danton, charging him with the murder of Mrs. Danton. The motive of the crime was to obtain property.

Verdict Against the Lake Shore Road.

At Norwalk, Ohio, the jury, in the case of Steward, admr. vs. the Lake Shore Railroad Company, returned a verdict for the plaintiff of $9,000. The case was tried several years ago, resulting in a verdict for the defendant. The case will, undoubtedly, be again carried up. It was originally brought by G. W. Herrick, who is now dead, and who was proprietor of the Maple City House. He had a leg taken off which he claimed was due to carelessness of the Lake Shore Railway Company.

Scattered His Remains Over a Mile.

Lee D. Scott, a Mississippi planter, was run over and killed by a train on the Memphis and Charleston Railway at Memphis. His remains were scattered along the track for a mile.

SEVEN ARE MISSING.

Loss of Life Caused by the Overturning of a Steam Launch at Bangor, Me.

A hurricane passed over Bangor, Me., Tuesday afternoon, which did great damage to property and caused considerable loss of life. The steam launch Annie, which had just left the dock with twenty passengers, was overturned. On the opposite side of the river lay the four-masted schooner Maria O. Teel, of Boston, Captain Johnson. Mate Norman McLoud lowered away his boat and with four of the crew rescued six men and three women. In all, twelve persons were saved, so far as known. The body of Miss Hattie Adams, daughter of James Adams, a rich lumberman, has been recovered. Seven bodies are missing.

STABBED BY AN IRATE HUSBAND.

Wm. Ewing, of Kensington, Ohio, Mortally Wounded by Charles Rushton.

At Kensington, Ohio, Charles Rushton, an employe of the Cleveland and Pittsburg Railroad Company, returned home unexpectedly about midnight and found Wm. Ewing, a well-known young man of the village, in his wife's bedroom. He sprang on him and plunged a dirk-knife into his side. He then turned on his wife and kicked her out of doors. Her cries aroused the neighbors. A physician found Ewing in the room lying in a pool of blood, unconscious. The knife had made a ragged wound four inches deep. He cannot recover. Rushton disappeared soon after the tragedy and is not to be found.

Grant Monument Struck by Lightning.

A company of people took refuge from a storm under the Grant monument in Lincoln Park, Chicago. They had been there but a few minutes when a bolt of lightning tore through the bank of black clouds and struck the statue, killing three persons instantly and injuring three others seriously. Several were slightly shocked. The list of the killed is: Mrs. Frederica Schiele, Carl Horst, and Louis Myers. The injured are: Lucille Smith, Anna Oleson, and Harry Phillips. A dozen or fifteen persons who were standing under the monument at the time were stunned, but they were able to go home without assistance.

Four Babies at a Birth.

Mrs. Ella Dayson, wife of Thomas Dayson, a lumberman of the Ramapo Valley, at Ford's Mills, N. Y., gave birth, Friday morning, to quadruplets—three girls and a boy. Their aggregate weight is twenty-two pounds and seven ounces. The mother and four children are doing nicely. Dayson says he will name the boy after the Republican nominee for President. He has been married eight years and has four other children, all born singly.

Kansas Wheat Harvest.

Southern Kansas farmers are busily engaged in harvesting the wheat crop. In the southern part of Harper County cutting began Thursday. The quality of the grain is excellent, the heads being long and well filled and the berry plump and heavy. In the extreme western counties the crop is reported as magnificent. The reports from nearly all points indicate a larger yield than last year's. Corn is looking well, but some counties say that rain will be needed soon.

Seven Buildings Burned.

The entire business block on First street and Broadway, Elizabethport, N. J., was burned Thursday morning. The building was occupied by James Mitchell, furniture dealer, and several lodges of Masons and Knights of Pythias. The fire spread to six large buildings adjoining, all of which were burned. The Elizabethport Bank Building was also damaged. The loss will aggregate $90,000.

Suicide of a Chicago Man.

At Brookport, N. Y., Amos A. Randall, of Chicago, committed suicide by shooting Mr. Randall, in company with his nephew, was in a hardware store, when the former bought a revolver and had it loaded. Shortly after their return home the shooting occurred. Randall had been in ill-health for some time, and of late had been very despondent. He was 62 years old.

Omen for Mr. Blaine.

The superstitious people of Augusta are shaking their heads because on the eve of Mr. Blaine's defeat in the National Convention one of the great maples at his home split asunder and fell across the highway. There was no unusual wind, and the cause of the tree's collapse is something of a mystery.

Left Eighty-five Cents in Bank.

Manager Fitzgerald, of the installment house of Gatez & Fitzgerald, Philadelphia, was straightening up the affairs of the Erie branch, until a few days ago managed by Otto Stark. Stark is said to have sent a check to the firm for $600 and skimped out, leaving only 85 cents in bank to pay it with.

Palacio In Out.

The Department of State was Friday morning advised by cable from the United States Legation at Caracas of the resignation of the President of Venezuela.

THE SENATE AND HOUSE.

WORK OF OUR NATIONAL LAW-MAKERS.

Proceedings of the Senate and House of Representatives—Important Measures Discussed and Acted Upon—Gist of the Business.

The National Solons.

Conference on the river and harbor appropriation bill have failed to agree. Fortification measures were discussed at length in the House the 15th. Senator Morgan spoke to the Senate in behalf of free silver. Congressman Shively introduced his tinplate bill in the House. Senator Peffer has presented a petition to the Senate from colored citizens of Kansas, protesting against Southern outrages. In the Senate the 16th, Mr. Morrill spoke in opposition to free college. The Hatch anti-option bill was referred to Judiciary Committee. In the House the time was passed in debate upon tin. Not a single appropriation bill is yet signed, and the majority of those bills are yet in the hands of the committee. Many hours were wasted over the Sibley claim in the House, on the 17th. They failed to agree on the river and harbor bill report, and a further conference was ordered. Chairman Durlow, with but one dissenting vote in committee, reported to the House a bill for the issue of 10,000,000 silver half dollars, to be used as souvenir coins in aid of the World's Fair. On the 18th the House adjourned until the 22d, at noon. Congressman Bowers of California defended the McKinley bill in the tin-plate discussion in the House. Senate Joint resolution recommending a Presidential proclamation for the observance of the four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of America has been agreed to in the House. All of the appropriation bills except the general deficiency bill have been passed by the House.

THE ELECTORAL VOTE OF 1892.

The Element of Uncertainty in the Coming National Contest.

When Washington was first chosen President in 1789 only ten States voted, giving him 69 Electoral votes. In 1888 the Electoral vote was 401, of which Harrison received 233 and Cleveland 168. The Electoral vote of 1892 has been increased to 444, and it will require 223 votes in the Electoral College to elect.

The following table exhibits the Electoral votes cast for Washington in 1789, the Electoral vote of 1888, with the States which voted for Harrison marked by a star (*), and the Electoral vote of 1892:

Six new States have been admitted into the Union since 1888, viz., Idaho, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Washington and Wyoming, with an aggregate of nineteen electoral votes. All of them voted Republican in 1888, but Montana elected a Democratic Congressman and Legislature in 1890. This large addition of States and yet larger additions of electoral votes multiply the element of uncertainty in the coming national contest.

Hope College Commencement.

The Twenty-Seventh Annual Commencement of Hope College is again a matter of the past, and as the doors close upon the festivities of the week another milestone has been added to its brilliant career of usefulness.

In using the term brilliant the verification thereof should not be sought in the exterior, but in the thoroughness of work accomplished; nor in the rapid strides which it might have made, but in the grandeur of its conception and of its founding amidst difficulties almost insurmountable. It was planted by a band of pioneers who under an eminent leadership were made to direct their attention to higher education, while yet struggling for a bare existence in the midst of a wilderness.

But we do not intend to write a historical sketch of Hope College, neither do we desire upon this occasion to comment upon the urgency of its emancipation from obstructive fetters, prominent among which is the glaring inefficiency and inadequacy of its council.

The baccalaureate sermon Sunday evening, by Prof. C. Scott, the retiring president, filled the First Ref. church with an appreciative audience, drawn thither by a double degree of interest. The address was based upon the words: "Ponder the path of thy feet," and was replete with fatherly counsel, couched in eloquent terms. The realization that it was the last time the speaker would stand before a graduating class in the capacity he has been wont to occupy for so many years, added emphasis to his words and a deep interest on the part of his hearers. In closing he thus addressed himself to the young men who were about to leave the institution and enter upon life's work:

YOUNG MEN—Members of the "Columbian" Class of 1892:

We have spent pleasant years together in this institution of learning, and now, the time has come when the special tie to you shall be sundered, and when also my presidency of the College is to be terminated.

I dare not allow myself to indulge in any reflections as to feeling and sentiment, save to give you the assurance that you bear away with you my sincerest regard and love, and these will remain in my heart, until its beatings shall be still.

My age and position, however, have led me to give final words of counsel. In the lecture room you have been seated at my feet, as it were, while I sought and enforced the lessons of mental and moral philosophy, and never allowed you to forget the highest precepts of the "Teacher sent from God." I know not how deeply or lastingly the lessons have been impressed, and therefore to-night have reiterated and focussed them in the text and discourse to which you have just listened. The Lord write the truth thereof in your souls!

"Ponder the path of your feet" now. Let your youth be indeed in hope and bright ambition, but not in any land of dreams. Be it a record of loyalty to God and his law, that Jesus might love you even if the "one thing needful" were yet lacking in you. The morning of life may be and should be as in a garden of pleasant spices.

"Ponder the path of your feet" just as carefully, when manhood and strength awaken feelings of pride. The strongest bow may be broken and the most cultured fig tree may be barren. As your years pass on, may your steps be onward and upward—better and holier, because in humility you have asked for wisdom and the guidance of Jehovah.

"Ponder the path of your feet" even to the end of this mortal pilgrimage, when the steps begin to falter towards the tomb.

Alas, for those who then look back upon paths of sin and error! And happy all who have so walked, guided from on high, as to pass on through heaven's open gate and towards the Crystal Sea beyond.

Twenty or twenty-five years from now you will have trying experiences and many anxious questionings. Dead, though I be, let me speak back to you all, who may be living. As you have made your path upright and straight; as you may continue to ponder your way in wisdom and truth, you will be established in peace and greatness, and surely it will be well.

And fifty years from now, if God so far extends your days, you will be where I am to-night, ready to testify that "wisdom's ways are the only ways of pleasantness;" that any upright and useful life is the best happiness here; that the hope of joy eternal, in Christ Jesus, is the sole anchor holding the soul to the "Rock of ages." Then recall again this night, and this "fare ye well."

My trust is in the Son of God and his salvation, and my faith is that up yonder we can ponder together how God has led our feet along, the good old way, "the way, the truth and the life."

The music was rendered by a quartette—Miss G. Alcott, Mrs. J. H. Gillespie, Phil. Soulen and Prof. J. B. Nykerk, in charge of the latter: Miss Rika Boone pianist. The hymn "Lead, kindly Light," was sung with effect.

While severing his official relation with Hope College as its president, Prof. Scott still retains his chair and will continue a member of the faculty. He received his appointment as professor of chemistry and natural history in 1866, the year that the "Holland Academy" was incorporated as "Hope College." For several years he also acted as lecturer in church history in the theol. department. In 1878, upon the resignation of President Phelps and the temporary appointment of Dr. G. H. Mandeville as his successor, Prof. Scott was appointed vice president and placed in actual charge of the institution, also filling the chair of mental and moral philosophy.

In 1880 he was elected by the council as president. The four years from 1878 to 1882 were an important and critical period in the history of Hope College, the institution at that time groaning under a heavy floating debt, which it required $32,000 to cancel. The environments just then were not very inviting, but the new president assumed his task with courage and faithfulness and succeeded in wiping out the indebtedness and reconstructing the financial management of the institution. This will always be recognized as the crowning feature in his administration.

The closing rhetorical exercises of the grammar school department were held Monday afternoon, in the college chapel, Prof. H. Boers in charge. The dimensions of the chapel, on this occasion as well as in previous years, proved entirely inadequate. The decorations were superb, the design for the class motto "Not finished, but begun," being especially unique.

In the evening the Uniflas Club, a Dutch literary society, held its Sixth annual meeting (jaarfeest). The exercises, in charge of Prof. C. Doesburg, which were all in the Holland language, were attended by a large concourse of our citizens, there being full as many outside the chapel as within. The anniversary of this society especially draws largely upon the Holland population from surrounding places.

We give the program as it was published, in the Holland language:

Gebed, Rev. J. Meulendyk.

Welkom, Prof. C. Doesburg.

Gezang, Harmonie, Koor.

Redevering—De Grondslag van de Verzugering der Natien. J. Van de Erve.

ma. F. K. Noordhoff, F. Van Anrooy, H.

M. Bruin en W. Talen.

Toespraak—Ds. J. Van Houten.

Gezang—Goeden Avond—Koor.

The closing remarks by Rev. J. Van Houte were direct to the point. While advocating from an educational point of view the advisability of retaining the Holland language for the sake of accommodating the constant stream of emigration, still it was well enough to have every new-comer understand that the English language was primarily the language in which his children were to be educated.

The Annual Alumni meeting is always an attractive feature during commencement week. The exercises are public and the attendance largely exceeds the accommodations. The program as it was arranged for Tuesday evening had to be varied somewhat from what it was intended, owing to the illness that evening of the orator, Rev. R. Bloemendal, of Chicago.

Invocation—Rev. W. H. Williamson, of Grand Rapids.

Music, Ladies Quartette (Mrs. J. H.

Gillespie, Mrs. W. Wing, Miss G. Al-

cott and Miss R. Boone)—"The Water

Lily."

As a substitute for the oration a series of impromptu remarks were made by the following gentlemen:

Rev. P. Lepeltak, of Alton, Ia.—A sort of colonial pot-pouri, giving a review of the history of the institution, paying a tribute to the past, and urging a continuance along that same line.

Rev. W. H. Williamson, of Grand Rapids—"Rutgers College."

Hon. G. J. Diekema—"The Future of Hope."

Rev. J. Meulendyk—"Our Boys."

Poem—"Local Reminiscences." Rev.

Music, Ladies' Quartette—"The Farmer and the Pigeons."

Welcome to new members, by the President of the Alumni association,

Rev. P. De Bruyn, of Grand Haven.

Music, Mixed Quartette—Jerusalem

the Golden.

Commencement evening has become proverbial for its challenge of the elements, and this year was no exception to the rule. Nevertheless, the Third

Ref. church was crowded to its utmost by interested friends of the institution.

The platform had been extended along the entire width of this spacious building and was beautifully decorated. On a back ground of black cloth nearly hiding the large organ was set out the motto of the Class, "One God, One Life, One Eternity." The music for the evening was all vocal, by Schubert's male quartette, of Grand Rapids, and was eminently satisfactory.

The exercises commenced at 8:00 o'clock, when the vast assemblage was called to order by President Scott.

Prize awarded to John Van de Erve of Hein, S. Dak., who took for his non-de-plume Everhart Johannes Potgieter; while honorable mention is made of William Talen, whose non-de-plume was Cromwell.

The prizes for drawing were awarded as follows:

In the "A" Class to Johannes J. Ossewaarde, Zeeland. In the "B" Class: First prize, to James E. Moerdyk, Muskegon; Second prize, to William De Jonge, Holland City.

The awarding of these several prizes met with a hearty applause and approval by the audience, and especially the students.

Rev. John Van der Meulen, of Holland, and Rev. John H. Wyckoff of Amoy, China, were announced as having conferred upon them the honorary degree of D. D., by the council of Hope College. The degree of A. M. also upon Rev. B. Van Ess, of Roseland, Ill.

As the exercises were about to be brought to a close, and the president had announced the singing of the closing hymn, there was a change in the program. A sudden rustling on the platform and then a prompt and quick action through a side door in the rear of the stage brought to view a surprise on the part of the students for their beloved president. It consisted of an elaborately carved and elegantly upholstered arm chair and foot rest, specially designed and made for the occasion—a most beautiful piece of workmanship. It was the gift from all the students to retiring president Rev. Charles Scott, D. D., and was presented to him in their behalf by Philip Soulen, a member of the graduating class, who in a few brief and well chosen words feelingly portrayed the sentiments that prompted their action, and to which the venerable recipient responded in terms betraying a most heartfelt sense of appreciation; taking the occasion also to express his thanks to all for the good fellowship that had existed during the 26 years of his residence here between the students of Hope College and the citizens of Holland. And that while his official relations might cease with the close of this evening's exercises, his personal relations would always continue.

The remarks of Mr. Soulen and the response by president Scott were both received with deafening applause on the part of the audience.

Of the members of the graduating class Mr. Van Landegend will pursue a course in civil engineering, Mr. Kollen a law course, and most of the others will eventually study theology.

The Council of Hope College was in session two days and adjourned Thursday evening late. Among the most important matters considered was the presidency of the institution. After a few informal ballots an unanimous vote was cast for Rev. H. D. B. Mulford, of Syracuse, N. Y. Rev. G. H. Mandeville and Dr. J. Benham were delegated to personally convey the call to him, and urge its acceptance. Among those that were charged with the selection and who had occasion to inform themselves, the choice is said to be an excellent one. On the informal ballot Prof. G. J. Kollen, Rev. J. F. Zwemer and Rev. Dr. Mandeville also received more votes.

The matter of reconstructing the constituency of the Council was again brought up as unfinished business from the April meeting. It was felt by some—not by all—that a change of some kind was needed, and from among the many suggestions made the following was adopted, to be acted upon finally at the session in April, 1893: to allow the Alumni the privilege of nominating eight persons as additional members of the council, and present their names to that body, and they, the council, to select four who under the circumstances are the least objectionable. Of this more anon.

The examinations hereafter will be conducted more directly by the professor in charge, and made at the close of each term.

The appointment of a permanent vice president of the institution will be considered at the next meeting of the council.

The committee on the new library has been given full power to proceed at once with active building operations, and if possible have the walls up before the close of the season.

The new editorial committee for De Hope consists of Prof. C. Doesburg, Rev. J. Van Houte, and Rev. Dr. N. M. Steffens.

The city treasurer reported back special assessment roll for sidewalk repairs numbered twenty-three. Amount uncollected $11 05. Warrant for collection extended one hundred and fifty days.

To the Honorable the Mayor and the Common Council of the City of Holland.

GENTLEMEN: I desire to call your attention to the following facts: Having received from the city clerk a copy of a resolution passed by your Honorable body June 7th, 1892, ordering the construction of a sidewalk on the east side of River street, between Ninth and Tenth streets, in accordance with an ordinance relative to sidewalks. Said ordinance calls for a sidewalk 6 feet in width unless otherwise ordered by the Common Council. As all other sidewalks on the east side of River street, between Eighth and Tenth streets are 8 feet in width I thought it best to call the attention of your Honorable body to the facts in order that the resolution might be reconsidered, providing your Honorable body consider the change necessary, before I served notices on the owners of the property to build their sidewalks.

THE NEW WAY.

There is an old saying that there is "nothing new under the sun." We want to tell you that there is something new, and it's very new, too. It is the new way to the Summer Resorts, Petoskey, Bay View and Charlevoix, and one that will prove to be as popular a means of reaching them as the places are popular in themselves.

From all parts of the country come every year—the number increasing—as the resorts become better known—a throng of tourists, some bent on pleasure only and going from one resort to another, enjoying to the utmost the pleasure afforded by each. Others go to some favored place, spending the hot months in quiet rest and regaining the health and strength impaired by too close attention to business and the cares of every day life.

But every body knows of the advantages to be derived from a vacation spent among the woods and lakes of Northern Michigan, and our object now is to tell you of the "New Way" to reach them.

The extension of the popular Chicago & West Michigan Railway is now completed, the new line running from Traverse City, through Charlevoix, to Petoskey and Bay View, a distance of seventy-five miles through magnificent forests and along the shores of beautiful lakes and rivers. Passing directly in front of the two resorts of Charlevoix (one of the most delightful places for a summer home of the many in that region), the road a few miles further on, strikes the shore of Little Traverse Bay, which, almost at the water's edge, it follows into Petoskey and Bay View.

Through train service will be commenced via the new route on June 26, and with the excellent service and fast time, which will be a special feature, "The New Way" cannot fail to prove a popular one with travelers.

Through parlor and sleeping cars are run from Chicago via the West Michigan, and from Detroit via the Detroit, Lansing & Northern R. R. to Grand Rapids, thence via the C. & W. M. R. to Petoskey, through Traverse City and Charlevoix.

Try the "New Way" this year, and be convinced that it is a good one.

CHICAGO CONVENTION.

THOUSANDS OF DEMOCRATS PRESENT.

OWENS IN THE CHAIR.

HARMONY AND ENTHUSIASM PREVAIL.

The Commodious Wigwam Packed to Its Full Capacity—Frightened by Thunder—Chairman Brice Calls the Gathering to Order—Temporary Officers.

First Day's Proceedings.

Chicago special: The National Democratic Convention was called to order at 12:45 Tuesday afternoon in the wigwam on the Lake Front by Chairman Brice of the National Committee.

Just after noon, before many of the delegates had arrived in the hall, a tremor.

CHAIRMAN BRICE, Calling the Great Convention to Order.

menous thunderstorm burst over the city. The interior of the wigwam grew as dark as night, the canvas being let down over the upper windows. Thousands of people were already in the spectators' seats, and as the lightning flashes lit up the gloom of the hall and the building shook in a heavy wind they became frightened and howled for lights. Then came a mighty fall of rain that drowned the voices of the people. The band began to play a lively air and the music speedily allayed the nervousness of the audience.

Chairman Brice Enters.

Chairman Brice and a bright ray of sunshine entered the wigwam together and both were greeted with hearty cheers.

As Mr. Brice rose to request silence, he faced a magnificent scene. Twenty thousand people filled the immense building, gay with its fluttering bunting, the bright colors of ladies' dresses, and the bright badges of the delegates and their accompaniment of marching clubs. Before him sat the representative men of a great party, the men who lead its battles, rejoice in its victories and mourn its defeats. There they spread in front of him, veritably a sea of faces which for the moment was bewildering in its vastness. Practiced speaker as he is, and used as he is to facing great meetings, Mr. Brice for a second or two showed that he is not insensible to the emotions of a supreme moment, and was visibly moved as he advanced to the front of the platform, after demanding silence, to present Rev. John Rouse, who offered prayer. At the close of his invocation the reverend gentleman recited the Lord's prayer, in which he was audibly joined in several parts of the great convention hall.

When prayer was concluded Chairman Brice said: "Gentlemen of the National Committee the Chair presents to this convention as its temporary officers the gentlemen named in the list, which the secretary will read."

Secretary Sheerin announced the temporary organization—William C. Owens of Kentucky temporary Chairman; Secretary, S. P. Sheerin, of Indiana; assistant secretaries, W. H. Doyle, Pennsylvania; H. Shepard, Virginia; C. Tilley, Missouri; L. A. Kowley, Michigan; R. E. Wilson, Mississippi; C. R. DeFreest, New York; J. C. Swayne, Illinois; Principal Reading Clerk, Nicholas M. Bell of Missouri; Sergeant-at-arms, Richard J. Bright of Indiana; official stenographer, Edward Dickinson, New York.

CHICAGO AND TAMMANY.

The list was adopted without opposition, and the Chair appointed Charles Jewett of Indiana, Thomas Wilson of Minnesota, and Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois to attend Mr. Owens to the speaker's chair. These gentlemen assembled in front of the platform and then proceeded down one of the side aisles to the place where the Kentucky delegation sat. Mr. Owens arose and walked up the aisle with the committee. When they appeared on the platform the convention applauded, and the applause was renewed when Chairman Brice announced that he had the "honor and pleasure" of presenting to the convention its temporary Chairman. Mr. Brice retired, leaving the space in front of the Chairman's desk to Mr. Owens.

After bowing to the applause with which he was greeted, Mr. Owens, in a good voice, addressed the convention.

Chairman Owens' Speech.

GENTLEMEN OF THE CONVENTION: Two great dangers menace the Democratic party. One is external, the other internal. The first is the organized machinery of organized capital, supported by the whole power of the government. The second is a tendency among Democrats to make issues among themselves. Two needs therefore stand before us indispensable to success: Unity and harmony. Of the one this chair and gavel stand represents.

tive; it remains for you to supply the other. In this spirit I greet you, fellow Democrats, as the advance guard of a grand army, sent forward to blaze a pathway to victory.

TEMPORARY CHAIRMAN OWENS.

tory. How momentous is your responsibility! I need not tell you that your work is done in wisdom the millions toiling in mine and shop and field will rise and call you blessed. The roll call of the republic attests that its heart and its conscience are with us in our war with the representatives of greed. The best thought of our party is a platform that challenges the approbation and invites the support of the people. We can succeed—we must do more; we must deserve success; above the wreck, it need be, of selfish combinations, we must rear a temple to the plain people, and build a shrine so broad that there every lover of his kind may kneel. The burden must be lifted from the back of labor, and to that end it has a right to demand that whoever bears our banner must lift it above the smoke of conflict and the din of faction, that every Democrat of the Union may follow its lead in exultant and irresistible combat. Let us not mistake. The gravity of the situation demands the broadest patriotism and every needful sacrifice. Our work but begins here. Under the approval of the party, the suns of summer and the frosts of autumn we must carry it forward with unflinching courage to a triumphant close.

This, again, must be a campaign of education. The "Steady of the Cornfield" begun in the West and South, must be carried into every hamlet of the East and North. The people must learn their true relation to the tax-gatherer. They must learn that no railroad president's champion the tribunes of the people; that no taskmasters write our tariff bills. They must learn, too, that for personal and political advantage their country was menaced by the threat of war, and they will learn with shame and regret that the very day the like proclamation of their President was read in the halls of Congress the peaceful response of the little by the Republic of Chile accepting the terms of the presidential ultimatum was read in every capital of the world.

THE WIGWAM.

Our opponents must be measured by their deeds and not by their professions. The Fifty-first Congress wrote the blackest page in our legislative history and became a thing of the past. It maintained the approval of the people, and they responded in tone so portentous that it seemed the voice of God. With a unanimity that finds no parallel in the story of popular government, it determined that a billion dollars was far too much to pay for such a museum of freaks. If we permit it they will stand by their verdict. That our cause may triumph let us work in kindness. In the heat of contention let us not forget that our political brother may be just as honest and perhaps better informed. Impelled by one purpose, and that purpose the public good, we will free ourselves from the bickerings and heart-burnings that characterized the Republican party when its Marshal Ney went down at Minneapolis before the mailed legions of the bread-and-butter brigade.

Mr. Owens had a respectful and an interested hearing, and when he came to the "legions of the bread and butter brigade" the convention cheered again and again.

The Work of Organization.

At the conclusion of the speech the Chairman asked what the pleasure of the convention was. Mr. White, of California, got the floor, and offered a resolution providing that the roll be called to name members of the different committees, and that all resolutions relating to the platform be referred to the Committee on Resolutions without debate, and that the credentials of each delegate be delivered by each delegation to the Committee on Credentials.

General Bragg, of Wisconsin, from the front row, offered as an amendment that the rules of the last Democratic convention govern this body until otherwise ordered.

Mr. White accepted this amendment as being first in order, and temporarily withdrew his resolution, which he again offered after General Bragg's substitute was passed. It was read by Reading Clerk Bell.

Mr. Rhodes, of Alabama, interposed with an amendment, which was read.

MAYOR GRANT, New York, one of Tammany's Big Braves.

It provided for a committee on rules in addition to the other committees. There was a brief discussion of the amendment, the explanation being made that the original resolution delegated the work of the proposed committee to the committee on permanent organization. The amendment was adopted, however, and the resolution as amended went through. The clerk then read the roll call and the chairman of each delegation handed in or announced the names chosen.

W. E. English, of Indiana, noticing a number of vacant seats in the galleries, offered a resolution to admit ex-soldiers of the late war to the unoccupied places. Mr. Collier, of Tennessee, said that there were 25,000 Democrats at the door and he moved that the doors be opened to them. There was great applause, but the whole question was shut off on motion of Mr. Johnson, of Kentucky, to refer the matter to the committee on resolutions. Mr. Holman, of Oregon, in the body of the hall, addressed the convention, closing by stating that he held in his hand a telegram giving the glad news that the Republicans of Portland, Oregon, had been defeated by a thousand majority. Great cheering greeted this announcement. Mr. Hall, of Kansas, moved that organized clubs be admitted to the vacant seats in the hall, but this resolution was also referred to the Resolutions Committee.

Mr. Cable, of Illinois, offered a resolution of sympathy with James G. Blaine, "that this convention tender its profound sympathy to that distinguished American, James G. Blaine, in the many afflictions that have befallen him." The reading of the name of Mr. Blaine was the signal for an outburst of greater enthusiasm than the convention had known before. The resolution was adopted without dissent. Mr. Swett of Maine got the floor and briefly thanked the convention on behalf of the Maine delegation.

An invitation from the World's Fair for the delegates to visit the grounds was read.

IN THE CONVENTION HALL.

Gen. Bragg, of Wisconsin, moved that the convention adjourn until 11 o'clock Wednesday. Before the motion could be put the delegates were in the aisles. The Chair declared the convention adjourned, the band struck up "When Johnny Comes Marching Home," and the convention dispersed for the day.

How the Interior of the Big Wigwam Appeared Before the Session.

A circus tent trebly magnified, with a dozen huge white pendants stretching from covering to floor—that was the appearance to an Associated Press representative of the big Democratic Wigwam when the National Democratic Convention assembled. The supposed pendants of shining canvas were in reality stout posts supporting what appeared to be a mammoth circular canopy floating in the sky, but in reality a substantial roof of wood raised some distance above the walls to admit light and air above from every direction.

Greater magnitude but naturally less appearance of permanency and beauty of finish distinguished the mammoth temporary structure from the Republican Convention Hall at Minneapolis. The vista of seats—a total exceeding 20,000—seemed to lengthen out right and left before and behind till the eye became bewildered.

Silken banners of blue, inscribed with the names of the States and distributed about the area of floor forming the center of the structure, showed where the votes were to come from that within a few hours at the most would name the winning candidate. All around were the rising tiers of seats containing the spectators, who, if they could not vote in the convention, were at least able to cheer to their heart's content. The Chairman's desk, the same over which Cleveland and Hendricks were nominated in 1884, was surmounted by two immense bouquets of daisies and long, green ferns. Banks of fresh foliage were piled against the tables of the newspaper men each side of the speaker's stand, while high up in the space reserved for guests of honor were scores of nodding palms. The gallery, though encircling the entire hall, and probably the largest ever erected for a national convention, seemed to form part of the hundreds of tiers of seats and not a distinct portion of the structure. The hall was hidden in countless small flags, and bore at intervals the shields of the various States and portraits of a score of honored Democrats of the past, Hendricks and Douglas and others back to the beginning of the party.

As the crowds flocked into the hall, almost the first comment was that the New York delegation had been given back seats. Alabama, Indiana, Iowa, Missouri, Montana, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin and Wyoming were in the front chairs. It was the result of the alphabet, however, not of any sinister political design. The States highest in alphabetical order commencing with Alabama were seated nearest the speaker to the extreme right, and the succeeding States on the roll ranged backward. At the head of the next aisle Iowa and Indiana were the fortunate ones, and the next in order alphabetically went to the rear. Missouri and Montana were the lucky ones in the middle aisle, while New York and Massachusetts fared the worst in this part of the building. First come, first served, was the order with the spectators, and soon after 11 o'clock a. m. the front seats on floor and gallery were crowded to overflowing.

Between Two Fires.

A good story was told, not long ago, of a lad lost overboard while sailing in Boston harbor, who was saved by his own presence of mind in floating until rescue could reach him. But he was a very little boy, and when actually safe began to cry. "You were frightened, weren't you, dear?" asked a tender relative. "You were afraid of going down?" "No, indeed," returned he, scornfully, between his sobs, "but I was afraid the fishes would bite me!" A far more alarming choice of evils was that set before an observer of the late rebellion in Chili. The Condell, a Chilean man-of-war, was on the way to Iquique to give the rebels there a fright by "sinking something, if it were only a pontoon," and Maurice Hervey, correspondent of the Times, was on board. He says:

In the delay precluding attack I descended to the saloon, and profited by the occasion to jot down a few notes. A few minutes later one of the officers came down to fetch something.

"Well, I'll be hanged!" he exclaimed. "Writing now! You'd better shove your papers into a bottle, well corked, if you are anxious to record the 'Last Moments of a Correspondent!'"

And ours was a dangerous venture, for as we approached the harbor we were threatened by chains, booms, submarine mines and torpedoes, to say nothing of the fort and possibly a war-ship.

With some difficulty I groped my way forward and ascended to the bridge, where the Captain and some officers were gathered. Every man was at his post, and a death-like silence pervaded the vessel as she approached the shipping.

"I wish they would hurry up," I whispered to Captain Cook, an English navigating officer. "This suspense doesn't agree with me at all." "Perhaps you'll wish it had lasted a little longer," growled he. "And look here! Whatever happens, don't you leave the ship. I mean, even if they sink us."

"Oh, well," I answered, "if it comes to sinking I shall clear out for those rocks over there. I'm a good swimmer."

"If you were Webb himself you'd never reach them. The water here is just alive with sharks." And hurriedly turning to the Captain he added, "Ahora, Senor!" (Now, sir). But just then he noticed that the vessels nearest us were not those of the rebel fleet but foreign boats, which must not be injured unless we were ready for war with the great powers of England and Germany. The Captain fretted and fumed, but the native ships were too evidently wedged in safely behind their neighbors. The attack had to be postponed, and our choice between gunpowder and sharks was mercifully delayed.

Lynch Law Among Rats.

In the neighborhood of Burley the other day, a gentleman, looking over a wall, saw a dead hen in the field. Presently a rat ran up, sniffed at the defunct fowl with much satisfaction, and went away in some haste. The onlooker, who is a student of natural history, knew what that meant, and removed the hen from the spot. In a minute or two the rat came back with half a dozen friends, with the evident intention of removing the carcass for future use. Arrived at the spot where the fowl had lain, the rat raised a loud squeak of astonishment at its absence. In a trice the other rats fell upon him so savagely that they left him dead on the field as a warning not to play practical jokes with his friends.—Leeds Post.

MINER LAW IS VALID.

IMPORTANT DECISION OF THE SUPREME COURT.

Opinion Written by Justice Montgomery—Synopsis of the Provisions of the Law—The Result Will Be to Divide the State's Electoral Vote.

To Choose Electors by Districts.

At Lansing the State Supreme Court filed an opinion Friday morning sustaining the Miner electoral law. The opinion was written by Judge Montgomery and was concurred in by all the other justices. The opinion says it is evident that the question of greatest importance is that relating to the true interpretation of section 1 of article 2 of the Federal Constitution, which provides that "each State shall appoint, in such manner as the Legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors equal to the whole number of Senators and Representatives to which the State may be entitled in Congress." In the judgment of the court these words are clearly susceptible of a construction which confers upon the Legislature a power to say how the State action shall be voiced. It furthermore concludes that it would be a strained construction which would give to either the fourteenth or fifteenth amendment the effect to annul the power expressly delegated in section 1 of article 2 of the constitution. It is clear that the fifteenth amendment was intended to preclude the State from making any discrimination against citizens on account of color. By neither amendment was there any attempt to place limitations upon the authority of the State as to the choice of officers thereto, for Presidential electors are still regarded as State officers.

The Miner law was passed by the Legislature at its last session, and provided for the choosing of Presidential electors by what is known as the district method. Under this act the State of Michigan is divided into two electoral districts, East and West, and it is provided that the people in each of those districts shall vote for one elector-at-large, and that the people of the various Congressional districts shall vote for electors in their respective districts instead of voting for a full ticket of electors for the entire State, as heretofore. The Republican State Convention named electors, as heretofore, and William McPherson, Jr., one of them, the relator in this case, obtained an order against the Secretary of State to show cause why he should not be compelled by mandamus to give notice under section 147 of Howell's Statutes of the election of Presidential Electors. The bill was a Democratic measure and was bitterly fought by the Republicans, who claimed that its real purpose was to permit a gerrymander of the State in the Democratic interest. The supporters of the measure asserted that the change was made in the belief that the district system would enable the people of the State to give a more definite and satisfactory expression of their choice for the Presidency and denied the charge that it was made for partisan purposes. In an article on the subject in a recent number of the North American Review Governor Winans gave as his chief objection to the method of choosing electors by general ticket that through it the people cannot fairly express their choice. "In any State," said he, "there may be a large section, a Congressional district or several of them, in which a heavy majority of the voters are strongly opposed to the election of a particular candidate, yet, against their will, their influence is practically cast in favor of that candidate because of a different sentiment prevailing in the remainder of the State. Thus the entire electoral vote of a State may be cast for a candidate who is opposed by 49 per cent. of the voters. Objection had been made to the district system on the ground that it would divide the electoral vote of a State and thus lessen their influence in the selection of a President. I answer that if popular sentiment in a State is divided her electoral vote ought to be divided, be the result what it may."

The advocates of the district plan laid especial emphasis on the advantages to be gained by destroying the great importance of pivotal States. If, say they, electors were chosen by districts, the present concentration of forces with the attendant corruption in these pivotal States would cease. The contest would be confined to the individual districts, and so many of these would be in doubt that political managers could not ascertain, as they now can, just what must be done to carry the day. In refutation of the charge that, in the new congressional apportionment which followed the adoption by Michigan of the district system, the State was gerrymandered, figures are presented to show that the difference between the most populous and the least populous districts of Michigan was in 1880, 64,951; in 1884, 50,607; in 1890, 103,459, and under the new apportionment of 1891, 44,263. It is further said that only three of the new districts can be considered safely Democratic.

Although presenting a number of what may be called technical objections to the act, the applicants for the mandamus rested their case mainly on the broad principle that the language of the constitution requires that the State shall act as a unit in appointing presidential electors; that the process of constitutional development, by construction and usage, has been such that it is not now competent for a State to break and destroy the homogeneity of the electoral college, by dividing itself into separate and independent electors, to voice the will of such districts in the choice of the Chief Magistrate as distinguished from the will of the State as a political unit, and that the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments of the Constitution contemplate and require the continued existence in all of the States of the general ticket for the election of officers and President and Vice President.

The respondents, on the other hand, maintained that the constitution gives to the Legislature the power to say how electors shall be chosen, and in support of this cited a number of States in which Legislatures had done precisely what the Michigan Legislature of 1891 had done. The Legislature, said they, is the State, and when the Legislature has spoken the State has spoken.

JOHN BORGETTO, the Italian who stabbed to death with a dagger the woman with whom he formerly lived at Iron Mountain, has been held for trial upon a charge of murder. He is confined at Menominee.

JACOB YANK, whose remains were found in Wild Fowl Bay, near Bay Port, was a former resident of Saginaw, where he lived last winter. When he first struck Saginaw he had about $7,000 in his possession, which he squandered in riotous living until he became penniless.

JOHN J. DOBBIN, the deposed Wacona preacher, has now been arrested upon a charge of illegally performing the marriage ceremony. Since being deposed from the ministry he has joined several couples in supposed wedlock, and some of them are having the ceremony performed by a parson in good standing. Dobbins should go slow.

DURING the first half of this month there was shipped from Saginaw to Cleveland 1,675,000 feet of lumber, to Tonawanda 3,350,000, to Buffalo 450,000, and to Sandusky 350,000 feet, a total of 6,900,000. Saginaw shippers are using the railroads more and more, and the most of the lumber sent out of the Saginaw Valley by boat is loaded at Bay City.

At Midland, Tommy Tremper, aged 10, son of ex-County Clerk Peter L. Tremper, was drowned in Snake Creek during the noon hour recess of school. Tommy and a companion or two ate their dinner at school and then slipped away up the stream unknown to their teacher. Tommy, who was a bright and daring little fellow, undressed and went into the stream, which from recent rains was quite deep, and being unable to swim sank to the bottom.

MAY WHITE, the Stockbridge sleeper, commenced the second year of her strange trance on Thursday. When she fell asleep one year ago she was a strong, healthy girl who weighed 147 pounds. When she had slumbered about eight months she was little more than a skeleton, her weight being fifty-two pounds. Since then her medical attendant has been able to arouse her three times a day and her weight has increased to eighty pounds. During her trance periods her body is as rigid as that of a corpse, but when consciousness returns her senses are quite alert and her body is in a normal condition. In that brief interval of mental activity she converses intelligently, reads the newspapers, and it may be part of a novel. When she is again awakened she is able to resume her work at the exact place where it was left.

THE Legislature of 1889 passed a law requiring railroad companies to sell 1,000-mile tickets good for any member of a family by whom it is purchased. The Legislature of 1890 re-enacted the same law, but the railroads have continued to ignore its provisions. The validity of the law is now about to be decided by the Supreme Court. John A. Brooks, assistant Supreme Court reporter, was granted an order by the court requiring the Detroit, Lansing and Northern Railroad Company to show cause why a mandamus should not issue compelling the company to sell 1,000-mile tickets in accordance with the provisions of the law. The case will be heard June 28.

Somehow or other tramps and burglars seem to have it in for the store of Mayor Harrington. His display of gents furnishing good apparently draws their attention. Coming in by rail—most tramps travel that way—they strike his emporium first and are favorably impressed. There is a reward out of $25 for the apprehension of each one of them.

COLLEGE NOTE.—At the close of the B class picnic on Saturday, some of the boys with the two class ladies and a couple of other young ladies from Chicago, decided to return to Holland in a sailboat. Starting at 5:00 o'clock from Macatawa Park, they had a fair wind till past Jenison's Park, when of a sudden they were caught in a calm and were unable to proceed faster than at a snail's gait, there being but one oar on board. At half past eight they arrived at Central Park, where they stopped at Rev. Johns's cottage, while two of the boys went scouring the country for something to take them to Holland. At last they succeeded in securing from Mr. Van der Hoeve, a large field delivery wagon, and with this they made their way through water and mud to the city. A sober-crowd it was when they reached Holland.

The labors of the Chicago National Democratic convention ended in the re-nomination of ex-president Grover Cleveland, with Col. Stevenson of Illinois as nominee for vice-president. The latter was one of the assistant postmaster generals during Mr. Cleveland's late administration. Mr. Cleveland received the required two-thirds vote on the first ballot, as follows: Cleveland 616, Hill 114, Boies 103, Morrison 3, Campbell 2, Gorman 36, Stevenson 16, Carlisle 14, Patterson 1, Russell 1, Whitney 1. The first inquiry after the result of a national convention is, how does the opposition take its defeat? Hence in this case the proposed action of Tammany excites the greatest anxiety, especially since the following formal acknowledgement made on the floor of the convention through Bourke Cochran of New York: "Mr. Chairman, in behalf of the New York delegation, I pledge you our complete submission."

West Olive was the scene of a little excitement Sunday. An old farmer named Wm. Morrison was the cause of it. All the day before he raved and swore about his house, driving away his family and smashing things generally. When he went so far as to threaten to kill certain members of the family, assistance was called for by them. Two neighbors, Thomas Sheehan and a man named Thornton caught him, tied his hands and feet securely. In this way taking him to Grand Haven in the evening.
